Remedy for the Scurvy.
Am willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte county, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. It is believed that Rio Bonito property will command a value of $100,000 within two years. There are no richer lands in the world than the Feather river bottom lands, good for oranges, lemons, peaches, apricots and other fruits without irrigation. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get a home in one of the best spots in California. Will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.
C. S. YOUNG.

Give Them Chance!
That is to say, your lungs. Always your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and capillaries leading from them. When these are choked and clogged with matter which ought not to be there your lungs cannot do their duty. And what they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any other ailment of the throat and chest and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is a cure for them. That is to take Boscawen's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 25 cents a bottle. It is a very fine medicine, and you may depend upon it.

Cure for Piles.
Hemorrhoids are known by moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable moisture after resting warm. This form, as well as Bile, bleeding and protruding piles, Boscawen's Pile Remedy, when used daily upon the part affected, absorbing the moisture, and relieving the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Address: The Boscawen Medical Co., Reno, Nev.

Pinner is agent for these celebrated "Abletine Remedies," and he offers to return your money if they do not give satisfaction. In buying, be sure the facsimile signature of Dr. Fryer is on each, as none are genuine without it.

Legend of the Great Dipper.

The faces of the stars shown so brightly one night, that the children thought the Mamma Moon telling a pretty story, and so she was, and this is the story:
"The great dipper, which you, my dear children, so love to form, has disappeared, which you are not to forget as long as the stars shine, tell you the story as often as you ask it, and you asking make me quite as happy as my telling can make you."
"See the dear baby stars running to make a small dipper like their old friend?" said the Lady Moon, "they are the great stars, who leaned over her chair as she spoke."
"In another world than ours," continued the Lady Moon, "there was a great trouble. No; it was not in the earth-world, my dear," she said to a tiny star, "who always asked questions. It was not in the Heaven world either, but in another far-away world where baby children lived. For some good reason, which only the Father knows, the people and children, the animals and everything else, were suffering great thirst; no water, no dew, no drop of moisture could they find anywhere."
"It was very horrible, and the people were very near to death."
"A little child of that world went out alone in the dry, dark night, carrying a little tin dipper, and prayed earnestly for just that little cup of water, which would not spill, though the rain rapidly, her hand trembling with fear, she held it. She did not taste the water, having prayed for another need. As she ran she stumbled and fell; for she was very weak, and when feeling about, trying to rise, she touched a little dog that seemed to be dying of its thirst, and the good child poured a few drops of the precious water in the palm of his hand, and let the dog lap it. He seemed as much refreshed as if he had drank from a river. The child could not see in the dark what he had done, but he knew that he was doing good. He was so tired, and so thirsty, that he lay down to sleep. The child could not see in the dark what he had done, but he knew that he was doing good. He was so tired, and so thirsty, that he lay down to sleep."

Notice to Water Consumers.

The customers of the Reno Water Company are requested not to use water for irrigation purposes on Fridays and Saturdays of each week, during the present irrigation season or until further notice. The reason for the request is simply this: In order to aid the Glendale farmers, it has been agreed between the several ditch companies taking water from the river above town to shut down on certain days. The Reno Water Company obtains its supply from the Highland ditch which company has agreed to shut the water out of its ditch on Thursday of each week for twenty-four hours. As a result all the water the Reno Water Company will have to supply its customers, will be a reserve in its reservoirs (not including the fire reserve), of not to exceed two days supply. Therefore, if the people persist in irrigating on the days specified (Fridays and Saturdays), the water reserve will not last twenty-four hours.

The largest crop of grain ever harvested in Sierra valley is now about all cut. It is thought by some that the yield will be 100 per cent. more than ever before.

It is now rumored in railroad circles that the express trains may not be taken off. A magazine of the Union Pacific is now in San Francisco attending a conference on the subject of discontinuing the trains.

Mrs. White, wife of Postmaster White, of Carson, yesterday fell off a step-ladder and injured her knee very badly. It is feared that the knee-cap has been partially torn away from the surrounding ligaments.

The alfalfa crop in the vicinity of Lovelock will give more than an average yield, but the grain yield will not amount to half a crop. On land which produced sixty-five bushels last year only twenty-five bushels will be produced this year. This condition of affairs is owing to the great scarcity of water.

A SAD DEATH.

Particulars of the Suicide of Miss May Lampman in Carson.

The Carson Tribune of Monday gives the following additional particulars of the tragic death of Miss May Lampman in Carson last Saturday night. "During Saturday afternoon Miss Lampman asked leave of her mother to accompany some lady friends to Shaw's Springs, agreeing to be home at 5 o'clock. Permission was granted. It seems that she did not return home until near 8 o'clock, and had been escorted from town by Curtis Wright. The mother appears to have been a little annoyed at her failure to arrive at the appointed time and was on the lookout, and on her arrival, spoke a little sharply and told her to go into the house quickly, accelerating her speed with a slight push. Shortly afterward the girl told her mother that she had swallowed a dose of laudanum, and that she (her mother) would not have another opportunity of upbraiding her before a young gentleman. The mother paid no attention to the remark, thinking it merely a foolish threat calculated to scare her. Later on the girl began acting strange and flighty, stating that there was a man dressed in black all over her with a knife and then fell on the bed in a stupor. The mother then came to a realizing sense that her daughter had swallowed the fatal draught. A messenger was dispatched for Dr. Lee, and the mother and her husband, Mr. Collins, began to walk her around the house, and administered something to induce her to vomit. Dr. Lee arrived about 10:30 and applied the stomach pump, but reported that it was of no use, as the laudanum had been too long in the system and become absorbed. He ordered a prescription, but gave it as his opinion that the young lady would die. The girl evidently was more than a foolish act, and pleaded earnestly with the Doctor to save her life, but the fatal drug had full control, and after suffering apparently great agony until 4 o'clock her young life ebbed away.

"It is now generally believed that the girl did not intend to commit suicide, in fact she admitted as much to her mother, stating that she was very sorry she took the laudanum and had no idea of dying. She felt a little plucked at being reproved and took the drug to scare her mother. The mother is heart-broken, but is not blamed by the community, as she merely did what every mother is called upon to do at times to do, to reprove her child.

"Deceased was born in Oakland, California, and was aged 16 years, 3 months and 10 days at the time of her death. Her father was accidentally drowned in the Sacramento river thirteen years ago.

IN SELF-DEFENSE.

Brothers Quarrel and One is Mortally Wounded.

The Carson Tribune of yesterday publishes the following: On Saturday evening at Gardnerville, Douglas county, Henry Elies, a rancher, was stabbed in the back, clear through his lungs, and yesterday afternoon his case was declared hopeless. The cutter is a brother to the wounded man. It appears that the man Elies is very ugly when in his cups and on Saturday night picked a quarrel with his brother, who is in the service in the State, abused him and finally grabbed him by the throat, swearing he would choke him, and being a very muscular man, doubtless would have done so, but fortunately for William he had a knife on his person, which, in self-protection, he drew and plunged in Henry's back, penetrating both lungs. Dr. Williams of Genoa was sent for and remained with the wounded man, who probably at this writing is numbered among the dead, as when last heard from every time he drew breath blood spouted from the wounds.

Will be Tested.

The Act passed by the last Legislature requiring electors to take an oath that they do not "belong to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, commonly called the Mormon Church," is creating considerable dissatisfaction in Douglas county among the members of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, and very justly, too, for there is not a more law-abiding class of citizens anywhere. They do not practice or believe in polygamy, and are always quiet and peaceable. While it is claimed by some that it will not interfere in the least with their right to register, the law is none the less noxious, and we hope, says the Genoa Courier, it will meet with the fate at the hands of our Supreme Court that other acts of the same ilk have met. We understand that a test case is now under way from this county.

A Woman's Despair.

"Death would be preferable to this awful, dragging-down sensation and aching back," despairingly complained a suffering mother. "And the worst of it is," she added, "there seems no cure for it." You are mistaken," replied the sympathizing neighbor to whom the sufferer complained. "I suffered for years just as you do, and found no relief till my physician finally prescribed Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cured me, and I have ever since been well, and the wealth of India would not induce me to be without the remedy, if a like affliction should return."

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

RESURRECTION.

AN ELKO MINE OF GREAT PROMISE.

A Second Tuscarora at Mountain City Predicted—what Enterprise and Pluck Will do.

Special Correspondence (Gazette.)
ELKO, August 26, 1888.

EDITOR GAZETTE: The mineral developments that have been made during the past year in Elko county are now beginning to attract considerable attention from abroad, and capitalists and mining operators who have examined our mines seem highly pleased and predict a grand future for Eastern Nevada. The continued uninterrupted and steady flow of bullion from Tuscarora, together with the almost daily development of new ore bodies in several of the heretofore unexplored mines, have awakened a lively interest among mining men all over the Coast. A second Tuscarora seems likely to be developed at Mountain City. I have heretofore briefly referred to the splendid output of the Emancipation claim (formerly known as the Independent lode) but this valuable find is now eclipsed by the recent discovered and partially developed mine now known as the Resurrection Lode, situated on Excelsior Hill, about 250 yards below the town, not far from the east bank of the Owyhee. This new candidate for metallic honors was discovered more by accident than by well directed prospecting. An old pioneer of the place, Mr. John Huber, concluded to stucco some ground upon which a quartz mill had been erected and operated for several years during the early days of Cope Mining District, for the purpose of obtaining whatever quicksilver and amalgam that had escaped from the batteries and amalgamating department of the mill, and in so doing he surprised himself by opening out to view an exceedingly rich bunch of ore of several tons. This led to further prospecting in the cut that had been made to convey water for sluicing the earth from the old mill site and resulted in the opening of the Resurrection mine. The locators of this new and rich find are Columbus Harris, Lewis Goldstein and John Huber, each holding 500 feet. Soon after the development of the mine Mr. Huber sold out to the District Attorney of Elko. Mr. Talbot is now in San Francisco for the purpose of arranging for machinery for the successful reduction and working of the ore.

The lode in question runs nearly due north and south, and is what is usually called by miners a blind lode, the croppings being some twenty feet below the surface, and in all probability would have never been discovered if Mr. Huber had not conceived the idea of washing away the debris of the old mill for the purpose herein stated. At the discovery point the vein is only about eighteen to twenty inches wide, and inclines to the east at an angle of about forty degrees. At the depth of seventy feet levels have been run both north and south at right angles with the shaft or vein of ore for a distance of some sixty feet each, exposing to view rich ore with a two-foot vein.

At the depth of 150 feet Level No. 2 has been excavated, showing the same quality of ore with an increase in the size of the ledge. These levels are some seventy-five feet in length. From this point the main shaft was pushed down to the further depth of eighty feet, from which point Level No. 3 was excavated along the line of the ledge, developing a large body of ore, the ledge in some places being from three and one-half to four feet wide. At the north end of Level No. 3 a winze is sunk to the depth of thirty feet, making a total depth from the surface to the bottom of the winze 260 feet. The metallic formation is a soft porphyry and is highly mineralized. At the bottom of the main shaft no water is encountered worth mentioning, notwithstanding the shaft is not more than 300 to 400 feet from the Owyhee river. At the bottom of the winze above mentioned the vein is strong and well defined, showing rich ore that will work as high as $300 per ton.

There has been shipped during the present summer to Salt Lake four car loads of ore of ten tons each, from which was realized $14,400. There is now on the dump, ready for shipment as soon as reduction works can be erected, 225 tons of second-class ore which gives an average result by working of $67 per ton. From this second-class ore was selected the forty tons sent to Salt Lake, making a total of 265 tons. From these figures obtained by actual working process it will be seen that the whole body of ore in the mine will work something over $110 per ton without being assayed. Old and experienced miners who have examined this piece of mining property estimate from careful measurement that there is not less than 600 to 700 tons of ore in sight ready to be knocked down and shipped to the mill. The ore itself is soft and will be easily crushed, nevertheless it will require care and some scientific handling to secure all the precious metals for the reason that apart from the native silver found in the ledge there is also several conditions of ore in the vein, such as oxide bromide and chloride of silver, together with sulphurets of silver and sulphurets of iron carrying considerable quantities of gold. This lucky owner of this mine is evidently upon the track of a bonanza of no small proportions and value. W. D. Hand is the sole owner of a ledge known as the Bonanza of some two feet wide carrying both gold and silver in paying quantities. His consort, the Nevada, is a strong ledge of some three feet or more upon which considerable development work has been performed. These ledges are situated on California hill, the mineral formation of which is lime granite and slate. Some 200 yards north of these claims is situated the Ross ledge owned by W. F. Ross, this ledge is strong and promising, being from five to six feet wide and carries both gold and silver and a result of $80 per ton has been obtained by working process.

On the south side of the river on Monitor hill there has been located a number of valuable prospects. Mr. Ben Gould, an old pioneer, is the sole owner of the Alleghany, Monitor, Mammoth and El Dorado claims, and all are favorably situated in a tunnel which is now in progress and has already reached the distance of 650 feet. The end of the tunnel indicates the near approach to one of the claims of this group or system of mines. The openings made upon these several claims show splendid results and a big strike is anticipated when the tunnel shall have reached and penetrated this group of valuable ledges.

John Huber is also the owner of several fine pieces of property on this side of the river, particularly the Diamond lode, upon which he has penetrated a shaft to the depth of twenty-five feet, and ore taken from the vein at this point gives an average assay of $150 per ton.

There is in this district, upon California, Excelsior and Monitor hills, thousands of tons of ore that will pay from $50 to $60 per ton.

Mountain City contained a population of over 2,000, some eighteen years ago, and about one year ago still remained of this once flourishing City was a baker's dozen of miners and two families, but to day who is again on the up grade of renewed prosperity.

RELIEF FOR FARMERS.

A Plan by Which the Scanty Flow of Water Can be Utilized.

The ditch owners and farmers have at last come to a definite understanding in regard to the disposition of the scanty flow of water, and at a meeting yesterday of ditch owners it was arranged to have the water turned into the river by the upper ditches on alternate days so as to give a continuous flow to ranchmen below, of between three and four thousand inches. Under the arrangement the Lake ditch, English ditch and the South Side ditch will shut down their gates this (Tuesday) evening at 6 o'clock, and let the water go down the river for twenty-four hours. Thursday, at 6 p. m. the Highland and Orr ditches will turn the water into the river for twenty-four hours, and will be followed by the Last Chance and Steamboat ditches on Saturday at 6 p. m., and will be repeated each week until there is more water than at present. By this arrangement, with the aid of the water which comes down from the lumber camps on alternate days, an opportunity will be given the ranchers on the Meadows to make their crops.

An Eminent Educator.

Miss Kate Newcomb Tupper, of the Portland, Oregon, High School arrived in Reno yesterday to take charge of the Model School connected with the Normal Department of the State University. She is a graduate of an Iowa college, was for some time a professor in a Wisconsin Normal School and has achieved a splendid reputation as a teacher on this Coast. Our people welcome her to Nevada, and the Gazette congratulates the University on having secured her services.

A Soap Bubble.

A fair audience assembled at McKissick's Opera House last evening to witness the presentation of "A Soap Bubble" by the Farron Company. The entertainment was replete with fun of the most convulsive character, and the audience never sobered down from the time the curtain rose until it fell upon the last act. There is no particular plot or depth to the play, but it is filled with many situations and interspersed with captivating scenes which will never fail to make it attractive.

A Remedy for Blackleg.

The following is said to be an unfailing remedy for blackleg in cattle: Take one part asafoetida, one part saltpeter and one part garlic. Roll this into a small pill, take a knife and, upon the under side of the animal's tail, about three inches from the root, make a cross cut in the skin and make a little pocket by separating the skin from the flesh, insert the pill, putting it in with the fingers, and then bind the wound with a cloth bandage around the tail.

Meadow Lake District.

The recent successful experiment of extracting bullion from Meadow Lake mines ore has caused prospectors to flock to that district from the California side. The sleepy railroad station on the Central Pacific known as Cicero, is the nearest point of approach to the district by rail and is twelve miles from the Lake. (The proprietor of a little grocery store, who has been located at Cicero since 1865, is doing a flourishing business furnishing prospectors with supplies.)

The "Chick" Case Dismissed.

Yesterday the charge of assault with intent to kill against J. E. Gallagher, who "chickened" "Fatty" Travers on the 15th instant, was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney, the evidence showing that both parties to the fracas were equally to blame. It was also shown by the evidence that Travers offered to drop the prosecution on the payment of $250.

A Stone at Belleville.

A fire at Belleville, Esmeralda county, on Saturday night burned Levi Smith's store, the postoffice building and two or three of Swindell's boarding and lodging houses, together with five empty buildings, making ten in all destroyed. The loss is roughly estimated at $15,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The Black Trial.

The second trial of John L. Black, indicted for murder in killing his brother, Samuel J. May 4th, commenced in the District Court of Storey county yesterday in Virginia. The prisoner is defended by R. H. Lindsay of Reno, who also acted as his counsel in the first trial.

GAMBLING BEFORE THE Days of Slavery.

Reminiscences of Big Play South in the Days of Slavery.

For years gambling on the Mississippi has been a theme written upon and read with interest. How the ideal player got through with his patrimony; how sixty or seventy bales of cotton or fifteen colored people changed hands in a few hours; but the player was always portrayed as a slender, well-formed youth, with black hair, dark eyes, high boots and a dashing cavalier sort of a fellow that would brook no insults. The bluff, good-natured, go-away man of about thirty-five that did the winning has been ignored.

Gambling was heavy and all the large cotton and passenger packets had forward of the cabin a room about 20 by 35 feet, called the social hall. This hall was fitted up in the most luxurious style, with a bar, chairs and cardtables.

At these tables, all day and night the planters, river merchants and officers were wont to tempt fortune. The favorite game was draw-poker; but in those times the gentlemen would bet on anything, from what kind of a fish a man would catch on his line to a steamboat race, and the more a man lost the bigger lion he was. Even now gambling is carried on to a great extent on all rivers, especially on the Red and Illinois rivers.

The most successful gamblers in ante-bellum days were George Brooks and "Bullet-neck" Green, so called from a bullet that was lodged in his neck. The latter gentleman played at and won the biggest game ever played on the Mississippi.

It was a game of draw poker between himself and three other planters. Green had about $20,000 on board the boat, but the other fellows had overbid his pile, and the game was $100 ante with no limit. Green held a remarkable hand and had staked his last dollar, but no one would "call" him. So, motioning the captain of the vessel to him, he asked for a loan, as he did not want to be run out of the game. To this the captain assented, knowing Green to be a very wealthy man, and he told the clerk to let him have any amount.

When these preliminaries were settled the players went on raising the stakes until $300,000 was on the board when one of the players called, and Green deliberately laid his cards face down on the table and said, "Boys, if I win the pot I will never turn another card; then 'showed up' four aces and a king—a hand that can't be beat—as a matter of course, winning.

It is estimated that this man won over $250,000 at cards.

The gambler in the days of slavery seldom cheated, and when he did and was discovered at it he could be found a few minutes after with a bowie-knife or bullet in him—more likely the former, for then it was a favorite weapon used with great dexterity, being thrown by experts twenty feet and driven through a mark on a two-inch plank.

It was seldom a game was played without every participant having his revolver or bowie in on the table, but now the players are on the bunco order and the ones they swindle less nerry.

A DANISH WEDDING.

Notes of the Connubial Customs of a Hospitable and Interesting People.

The number of invitations vary according to the means of the bride's parents, but there are seldom less than 50 assembled, and often as many as 150, old and young.

A day or two before the wedding the various guests send their gifts, not to the bride, but to her parents, consisting generally of contributions toward the expected feast, and beyond participating in such revelry and good cheer the bride and bridegroom do not personally benefit.

One friend contributes, say, eight pounds of golden butter piled high on a platter fringed with greenery; another a score or two of eggs or some chickens. A lamb, joints of beef, or a small cask of fine old Oktober beer, follow in quick succession; and in this way the parents frequently receive more provender than can be consumed at the festivity, and their sole expense consists in the hiring of plates and dishes from the nearest stores in the town where the farmer sells his grain and buys his wife's groceries and ribbons.

For months before the wedding the bride with her mother and sisters have been hard at work at the loom, spinning and weaving all the linen for the person, as well as for the house; which store, together with a couple of young horses, a couple of cows and a pair of sheep, invariably forms a part of her marriage portion.

Bridal ornaments are not heirlooms as in Norway. The Danish peasant girl wears a simple crown of myrtle with her national costume—varying with the district, but always charming—and pots of myrtle are carefully cherished by girlish hands through the long winters in anticipation of the great event. Her sole headdress is the great oaken dowry chest, heavily clamped and often finely carved, that holds her goodly store of linen.

At 11 o'clock on the wedding morning all the guests meet at the house of the bride, driving up in carts, and when she is ready the long procession starts for the church, headed by two outriders, who are the "best men." Next follows a cart containing the band, three or four brass instruments, and that standing dish, the village fiddler.

After them comes the cart containing the bride alone, both parents remaining at home to part the finishing touches to the festive cloth already spread. Behind the bride comes the bridegroom, also alone, driven by a kinsman.

He sits in the middle of his kinsman in all the conscious glory of a new tall hat and vast cloak with many capes, worn even in the summer time, as lending a dignity suitable to the solemnity and as a mark of distinction.

Near the church children strew flowers, as well as near the bride's old home, where there is also an archway draped with flags. Returning from church the bride and bridegroom sit together, the hand preceding them, heralding their approach with a fanfare.

The Boston Boy at School.

One boy was asked to define a common word.

"William is a proper noun and Billy is a common noun."

Another was told to write what he had learned in physiology. He did, thus: "The body is composed of three parts—the head, the trunk and the abdomen. The head contains the brain, the heart and lungs. The abdomen contains the bowels, a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes w and y."

What in the world that last bright boy was thinking of his teacher may have been able to puzzle him, but probably no one else can. The answer, however, was actual—Boston Transcript.
